KidsFest "Big Brass Bang"

Woolston Brass Academy kicked off the July school holidays on Sunday 9 July with their KidsFest "Big Brass Bang!" Concert at The Piano 2pm-3pm. Junior Band and Concert Brass entertained the appreciative audience by performing fun and well known cartoon tunes. After the concert, kids were lining up in the foyer with their parents to give a brass instrument a go! Raynor Martin is pictured with a young boy helping him make some fine Trombone sounds for the first time! And another young boy is pictured giving the Eb Bass a go with the aid of Martin Bennett. Thank you to everyone who made this whole event a success; Music Director Nick Johnson, all players, instrument demo helpers (Raynor Martin, Tania MacKay, Martin Bennett and Nick Johnson), The Piano Staff plus the set up crew in particular Todd Turner, Caroline Blackmore, Vickie Ward, Ross Ward, William Ward, Jasmine Ward, Raynor Martin and Tania MacKay.

WINTER JAZZ Concert

On Sunday 30 July at The Charles Luney Auditorium, Woolston Brass under the baton of Tyme Marsters with Guest Soloists Kate Taylor, Cameron Pearce, Scott Taitoko and Gwyn Reynolds wowed the audience with their WINTER JAZZ Concert Programme.

A large and appreciative audience were grooving in their seats enjoying every magical moment of the dixie, big band swing, jazz and funk charts. Thank you and congratulations to Tyme, all performers, helpers and the staff at Charles Luney (Al Tie and Jody Keehan) who made this concert a success! Thank you to everyone who came along to support us, we hope you enjoyed it as much as we did!

An Afternoon with The Woolston Brass Family

Woolston Brass and The Academy had the pleasure of performing to the band's Patron Partners on Sunday 11 June for a 2pm Concert at The Gibson Centre (Rangi Ruru Girls' School) followed by an afternoon tea catered by staff of Rangi Ruru.

This private concert and event was an opportunity to acknowledge the generous support of our Patrons, showcase the talent of the whole Woolston Family (Woolston Junior Band, Woolston Concert Brass and Woolston Brass), and also an opportunity for the Patrons and Players to meet and catch up. Due to the arrival of baby George Marsters, Phil Johnston kindly stepped in for Tyme Marsters to conduct Woolston Brass' entertainment bracket compered by Gary Pinker.

We would like to thank our Patron Partners for their continued support and friendship, without their support the organisation would not be able to achieve its musical endeavours. Thank you to Rangi Ruru for providing the wonderful venue for our concert and a delicious afternoon tea. Well done to all players and their Music Directors for providing our Patrons a concert they were certainly very proud and appreciative of.

Concert Review (Courtesy 4barsRest)

This wasn't Woolston Brass' first concert foray into the jazz idiom. A few years ago they launched a CD called 'Rhythm 'n' Brass' and found that swing might very well be their thing, even on a bitterly cold July afternoon in Christchurch.

Thankfully, a slightly warmer evening saw an excellent audience turn-out at the Charles Luney Auditorium for this 'Winter Jazz' concert - drawn along by some slick PR that promised sophistication and innovation.

They got it: Right from the start in fact, with Nestico's vivacious 'Fascinating Rhythm' featuring Riwai Hina's waspish piano playing.

Juggernaut

'Big Band Jive' was full of sumptuous horn, euph and baritone playing, with the band's juggernaut tuba team cut in half to enable the rhythm section to shine: Stu Macfarlane (string bass), Riwai Hina (keyboard) and alternating kit-drummers Robert Petch and Cameron Burnett did that in spades.

Vocalist Kate Taylor was the gorgeous lead with 'Orange Coloured Sky', followed by 'Georgia on My Mind': Hoagy Carmichael may have wrote it, but tenor sax Gwyn Reynolds owned it. It was spell-binding.

Full quota

With the tuba section at full quota the band dusted off a couple of chestnuts from its own library: Denzil Stephens' tribute medley 'Miller Magic' and Philip Sparke's take on 'Birdland', were slickly presented before Kate Taylor gave a tasty rendition of the Hoagy Carmichael standard, 'Skylark'. Cameron Pearce sustained the blissful melancholy on flugel with 'Here's that Rainy Day'.

Either side of the interval came contrasting elements; Jim Fieldhouse's 'Nefarious' funkcd whilst early carefree jazz was recalled with 'Black Bottom Stomp', 'Puttin' on the Ritz' and 'Bring Back that Leroy Brown'.

Uninhibited

Trombonist Scott Taitoko was an uninhibited lead on 'Sweet Georgia Brown', before Brian Eckersley, Rob Lobker and Richard Hogarth joined him in the spirited trombone quartet 'Peace like a River'.

Soul time over, more swing came with Kate Taylor's rapturously received 'For Once in my Life' that led into the splendid finale as Tyme Marsters rounded things off with a slick 'Margarite' with improvised solos from each of the guest performers.

As an encore, 'Bourbon Street Parade' brought the curtain down on a night of classy jazz inflections.

Arthur Stone

Graham Hickman Life Member

Congratulations to Graham Hickman (pictured with President and Life Member Gary Pinker) who was awarded Life Membership of Woolston Brass at the AGM on 20 September. Graham had been associated with the band since 1992, firstly as a Cornet player and then was appointed Music Director in 2006 until 2014. Under Graham's baton, the band achieved many musical and organisational successes, including winning the inaugural Australasian title in 2008 and a historic run of four national championship titles in a row; 2009, 2010, 2011 and 2012, a feat not achieved in New Zealand since 1907. Graham influenced the musical direction by introducing a number of unfamiliar genres to the band such as jazz, swing and rock and developed Woolston's high art repertoire demonstrating to the wider arts community that brass bands are a legitimate art form. Graham contributed more than musical excellence, he undertook many organisational and administrative tasks, he was a team player and a true Woolstonian. This Life Member award is a well deserved acknowledgement of his outstanding service to the band and successful tenure as Music Director.

CPBBA Band and Solo Contest

All three Woolston bands competed at the CPBBA Brass Band Association Contest on Saturday 9 September held at The Charles Luney Auditorium.

Woolston Brass with MD Tyme Marsters competed in the A Grade and received great results; first place in Hymn (I Know Thou Art), Test (Music For Battlecreek), Stage March (Thundercloud) and Entertainment. Anthony Smith took out Best Soloist performing El Cumbanchero as part of the band's Latin inspired entertainment programme that also featured Kevin Hickman in Valero and Raynor Martin in Mambo Caliente - classy playing! Chief Adjudicator was Byron Newton and Entertainment Judge was John McGough.

Woolston Concert Brass with MD Nick Johnson in the C Grade. Great performances in all events, well done WCB! Highlights were Triptych (Test), Abby Wilson's Solo The Lark in the Clear Air and Skyfall.

Woolston was well represented throughout the solo events held on Sunday 10 September, we are super proud of all competitors who entered and thank you to their accompanists, tutors and support crew. Congratulations to the following Woolston members for their wins and placings;

Academy News

The Woolston Brass Committee was pleased to appoint Vickie Ward as the new Academy Coordinator for the Woolston Brass Academy in July. This role reports to the Academy Director Tyme Marsters and provides administration and coordination support to the Academy (with the support of the Academy Conductors/Tutors, Academy Director and Committee).

Vickie has been involved with brass bands for many years, she currently plays cornet in Woolston Concert Brass and regularly helps out the Woolston Junior Band. It is a family affair as brass bands are known for; her husband Ross, daughter Jasmine and son William play in Concert Brass, and Jasmine also plays in Junior Band. During the day, Vickie currently works at St Margaret's College as a Digital Archivist and Library Assistant. Vickie brings to the Academy Coordinator role strong administration skills and a passion for brass bands, especially the Academy.

Academy Update by Vickie Ward

9 July saw both the Woolston Junior and Concert Brass bands playing in the Piano to a good crowd of children for the KidsFest holiday programme. With Jill away, Nick took the bands playing a varied program that included popular TV show themes like Sponge Bob, Flintstones, Little Einsteins. The program was well received by the audience. Our performance ended with a member of the audience conducting a march, this is always a highlight for both the bands and the audience. After the concert, there was the opportunity for youngsters to have a go at playing the various brass instruments of the bands. There were lots of great sounds being made!

On Saturday 26 August WJB and WCB players competing against each other in the Woolston Slow Melody contest. Phil Johnston was the judge, providing excellent feedback to everyone going on to compete in the CPBBA solo contest on September 10. There was a spectacular turnout of academy players competing which is excellent to see and hear. The additional performance opportunities to perform as a soloist are an excellent way to learn to control those nerves that can get to us all sometimes. All academy players should take advantage of these Woolston solo contests to put themselves out there. Congratulations to everyone on their performances and in particular to the winners Kate Sanders - WCB and Luca Cable - WBA.

Next up was the CPBBA solo and party contest, held over the weekend of 9 and 10 of September at St Margaret's College. Saturday 11 bands competed with Woolston Junior Brass competing early in the morning against the D grade bands. Byron Newton, an ex-Woolston player himself, was the music judge and John McGough was judging the entertainment section of the contest. Both judges had constructive remarks about the band's performance. The band played well and enjoyed themselves even playing the three "serious" items a hymn, test and march. Well done WJB!!

Woolston Concert Brass competed in the C grade. There are no other C grade bands in Canterbury at present, this however does not detract from the effort and performance. The challenge is to play to the best of their ability and impress the judges with the skills on display. WCB had fun on stage and did a great job entertaining the audience at the Charles Luney Auditorium.

The following day, again at St Margaret's College, was the CPBBA solo and ensemble contest. A great showing for WCB and WJB players with excellent results for many of our players. Congratulations to Martin Bennett for winning the C/D Slow Melody, Other and Overall title.
